

Special Issue

Diagnosis and Management of Postural Disorders

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue is aimed as being a platform for discussion on diagnostics, as well as screening and prognosis, of people suffering from spinal deformities, or those at risk of such, from the perspective of the person. We are interested in diagnosing spinal deformities but also in diagnosing peoples' lived experiences related to spinal deformities. As spinal deformities we understand scoliosis of various types, affecting people throughout their lifespan, as well as other medical and subjective problems related to the spine, such as kyphosis and so-called "bad posture" or "faulty posture". Diagnosis and diagnostics may be related to those suffering but also to their significant others. Therefore, papers reporting diagnostic imaging and laboratory testing, but also measures of subjective health status such as inventories and questionnaires, as well as qualitative studies related to issues such as lived experiences, are anticipated, welcomed and awaited.
