Diagnostics and Therapeutic Explorations in Aging

Message from the Guest Editor

We are pleased to invite you to contribute to a Special Issue of Diagnostics focused on “Diagnostics and Therapeutic Explorations in Aging”. This Special Issue aims to bring together cutting-edge research and review articles that advance our understanding of the aging process and therapeutic strategies to combat age-related diseases. By fostering interdisciplinary collaboration, we hope to uncover novel diagnostic and therapeutic approaches that can improve health span and quality of life in the aging population. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Cellular senescence and its role in aging;
- Telomere biology and aging;
- Mitochondrial dysfunction and oxidative stress;
- Genetic and epigenetic factors in aging;
- Biomarkers for aging and age-related diseases;
- Novel therapeutic interventions targeting aging mechanisms;
- Age-related diseases and their diagnostics;
- Clinical trials and studies on anti-aging therapies.

We look forward to receiving your contributions to this exciting and impactful field of study.
