

Special Issue

Imaging Cardiac Arrhythmia/Sudden Cardiac Death

Message from the Guest Editor

The aim of this Special Issue is to present the role of each modality and to further clarify which is the most efficient imaging combination in the assessment of arrhythmogenic substrate. Our target is to provide new knowledge and promote discussions between all experts who are interested in presenting their results/opinion on this topic. Research papers, case reports, case series, exciting images, clinical vignettes, reviews, debates, or current opinions are welcome.
