The Macroeconomics of Energy Transition: Policy, Growth, and Structural Change

Message from the Guest Editors

The primary purpose of this Special Issue is to understand how economies respond to and shape changes in energy demand and supply, enabling more informed and effective policymaking in the face of one of the most critical transformations: the energy transition. This Special Issue invites contributions that explore macroeconomic dimensions of energy transition from both theoretical and empirical perspectives. Areas of focus may include, but are not limited to:

- Enhancing Macroeconomic Modelling with Energy Sources and Technological Shifts.
- Consumption and Supply Changes during Energy Transition.
- Fiscal, Monetary Policy and Financial Regulation in Transition Economies.
- External Sector and Trade Dynamics of Energy Transition.
- Employment and Productivity Effects of Energy Structural Changes.
- Country's Stage of Development and Transition Capacity.
- Economic Dependence and Energy Transition.
