Message from the Guest Editors

In this Special Issue, we aim to collect empirical studies drawing on a range of disciplines, included but not limited to mathematics, education, computing, as well as a wealth of theoretical and methodological approaches. The topics of this Special Issue will relate to the use of Game-Based-Learning strategies at all academic levels:

- Learning and instructional theory for game-based learning;
- Assessment in game-based learning;
- Social and collaborative aspects of game-based learning;
- Case studies and best practices in the use of game-based learning;
- Evidence of learning processes in game-based experiences;
- The use of game-based learning for teacher instruction.
