

Special Issue

Economic Education

Message from the Guest Editor

It is my pleasure to invite you to submit manuscripts for a special edition of Education Sciences devoted to economic education. The world is undergoing rapid changes—socially, culturally, politically, and economically. Economic education also needs to change and evolve with the times. This special issue will be open to a wide range of pertinent, change-related topics, including new trends and research in economic education, innovative teaching practices in economic education, economic education's role in citizenship education, moral/ethical considerations in economic education, economic/financial justice education, technology integration in economic education, and the promotion of economic reasoning as a tool in real-life decision making. I look forward to reading and reviewing your submissions. Prof. Dr. James Duke Laney

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

From its first issue in 2011, Education Sciences (ISSN 2227-7102) has grown as a scholarly international open access journal. Its aim remains to publish extended full-length research papers that have the scope to substantively address current issues in education. As a member of the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE), our goal has been to disseminate high quality research. Our publisher, MDPI, takes the responsibility to enforce a rigorous double-blind peer-review together with strict ethical policies and standards to ensure to add high quality scientific works to the field of scholarly publication.
