

Special Issue

Supporting Transitions and Engagement in STEM Education

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to explore the multifaceted nature of transitions in STEM education. We invite contributions that examine transitions broadly, including but not limited to, the following:

- Educational Levels: Evaluations of STEM programs, courses, interventions/pedagogical approaches or assessment tools that span across and explore transitions between educational levels.
- Disciplines: Integration of STEM subjects (iSTEM) or interdisciplinary approaches that include other disciplines.
- Educational Settings: Movements between educational settings, i.e. transitions between formal classroom environments and informal learning contexts, between physical and digital learning spaces, or between educational contexts.

Manuscripts may be theoretical or empirical, or a combination of these. We are open to a variety of research methodologies, including quantitative, qualitative, mixed methods and action/design-based research.

We look forward to receiving your contributions and advancing our collective understanding of this critical area.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

From its first issue in 2011, Education Sciences (ISSN 2227-7102) has grown as a scholarly international open access journal. Its aim remains to publish extended full-length research papers that have the scope to substantively address current issues in education. As a member of the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE), our goal has been to disseminate high quality research. Our publisher, MDPI, takes the responsibility to enforce a rigorous double-blind peer-review together with strict ethical policies and standards to ensure to add high quality scientific works to the field of scholarly publication.
