Data Analysis and Data Fusion in System Identification and Measurements

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue focuses on the theme of "Data Analysis and Data Fusion in System Identification and Measurements", aiming to explore the applications and advancements of data analysis and data fusion technologies in the field of system identification and measurement. Prospective authors are invited to submit their novel and original manuscripts on the theoretical underpinnings and the practical applications of these techniques. Potential topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Multi-source information fusion;
- Bayesian estimation theory;
- Advanced signal and information processing;
- Target detection, recognition, and tracking;
- Cooperative localization and tracking;
- Sensor fusion in navigation systems;
- System identification;
- Simultaneous localization and target tracking;
- Networked estimation and filtering.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Electronics is a multidisciplinary journal designed to appeal to a diverse audience of research scientists, practitioners, and developers in academia and industry. The journal is devoted to fast publication of latest technological breakthroughs, cutting-edge developments, and timely reviews of current and emerging technologies related to the broad field of electronics. Experimental and theoretical results are published as regular peer-reviewed articles or as articles within Special Issues guest-edited by leading experts in selected topics of interest.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), CAPus /
SciFinder, Inspec, Ei Compendex and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Engineering, Electrical and Electronic) /
CiteScore - Q1 (Electrical and Electronic Engineering)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.8 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.4
days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
