

Special Issue

Excellent Papers from IEEE ICET 2021

Message from the Guest Editors

Technological development and monumental innovation are progressing faster than we ever imagined. Novel systems and designs caused by emerging technologies have the potential to totally change our lives and interactions between human and the environment. Particularly, new products, devices, and applications propelled by the advance of electronics technologies are going to impact every aspect of our daily life. In light of such technological innovation, the field of electronics has also evolved from devices, circuits, and technologies, to systems and applications. This Special Issue (SI) is aimed at soliciting the good articles from 2021 IEEE ICET demonstrating significant breakthroughs in all areas of electronics and associated system-level applications.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Electronics is a multidisciplinary journal designed to appeal to a diverse audience of research scientists, practitioners, and developers in academia and industry. The journal is devoted to fast publication of latest technological breakthroughs, cutting-edge developments, and timely reviews of current and emerging technologies related to the broad field of electronics. Experimental and theoretical results are published as regular peer-reviewed articles or as articles within Special Issues guest-edited by leading experts in selected topics of interest.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), CAPus /
SciFinder, Inspec, Ei Compendex and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Engineering, Electrical and Electronic) /
CiteScore - Q1 (Electrical and Electronic Engineering)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.8 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.4 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
