Emerging Applications of Information Security Technology in Digital Environment

Message from the Guest Editors

Recent advancements in digital technologies that are the substantial infrastructure of every business are also considered a cause of concern for many business owners and decision-makers. Since systems are getting excessively dependent on complex digital technologies, protecting the systems from cyber-attacks and fraud is playing an integral role to make the most out of recent changes in the digital environment. Topics include but are not limited to the following:

- AI-Based Software Engineering
- Behavioral Information Security and Information Assurance
- Cloud Applications
- Cloud Architecture/Modeling, Services
- Cloud Security
- Intelligent Systems
- Machine Learning Methods
- Multimedia Security
- Natural Language Processing
- Network and Mobile Security
- Neural Networks
- Privacy, Security and Trust Management
- Social Computing and Social Intelligence
- Vision and Speech Perception
