Celebrating the 128th Anniversary of Sichuan University—Electrical and Electronic Engineering

Message from the Guest Editors

As golden autumn leaves grace the campus, we mark the 128th anniversary of Sichuan University, a milestone that resonates with pride and academic excellence. To commemorate this historic occasion and perpetuate the rich scholarly tradition and pioneering research spirit of our institution, we are delighted to announce a special academic paper solicitation. This call for papers invites contributions from faculty and students across the globe, aiming to showcase the diverse research achievements and innovative thinking within the field of electrical engineering and its intersections with other disciplines. We warmly welcome original research papers and academic reviews that embody novelty, originality, and practical significance. The topics of this session include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Power system stability and control.
- AC-DC system operation and analysis.
- Power system design planning.
- Power system optimal operation.
- Al technologies application in power system.
