Swarm Intelligence, Fuzzy Logic, and Cloud Computing in Applications for IoT and Information Retrieval

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue is intended to be a valuable resource for researchers, engineers, and practitioners interested in artificial intelligence (AI) in the Internet of Things (IoT) and information retrieval. It will also contribute to the wider dissemination of knowledge about AI among the general public. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to:

- Swarm intelligence: the use of AI algorithms inspired by the behavior of insects or animals.
- Fuzzy logic: the use of fuzzy logic to model and make decisions in uncertain environments.
- Cloud computing: the use of cloud computing as a platform for AI applications.
- IoT: the use of AI for monitoring and controlling IoT devices.
- Information retrieval: the use of AI for indexing and searching for information.
- The use of AI for security and privacy in IoT and information retrieval systems.
- The ethical implications of the use of AI in IoT and information retrieval systems.
- The future of AI in IoT and information retrieval.

We look forward to receiving your contributions.
