Emerging Application of Sentiment Analysis Technologies

Message from the Guest Editors

Sentiment analysis (SA) is the field of natural language processing that deals with the automatic comprehension of opinions shared by users across different media. In this Special Issue, we thus focus on approaches defining models and resources to deal with new challenging applications of SA technology in an effective manner. Topic list

- Multilingual sentiment analysis;
- Sentiment analysis for low-resource languages;
- Multimedia sentiment analysis from video, image and text;
- Sentiment analysis for political, social and economic analysis;
- Sentiment analysis for security monitoring;
- Sentiment analysis for detecting sexism, racism, bullying and harassment;
- Sentiment analysis for health;
- Language resources for emerging applications of SA.
