

Special Issue

Quantum Information, Computation and Cryptography

Message from the Guest Editors

The second quantum revolution was founded on fundamental research at the intersection of physics and information science, giving rise to the field we today refer to as quantum information science. This Special Issue will focus on quantum information science, especially quantum communication and quantum computing. It will aim to provide the up-to-date findings in theories and experiments of quantum information science for a broad range of readers. Topics are included, but are not limited to:

- Quantum algorithms
- Quantum computing
- Quantum error correcting codes
- Quantum communication
- Quantum Shannon theory
- Quantum complexity theory
- Quantum networks
- Quantum cryptography
- Quantum information processing
- Quantum metrology and sensing
- Quantum programming
- Quantum machine learning
- Blind quantum computing
- Tensor network states
- Quantum simulations
- Quantum foundations
- Quantum optics
- Geometric quantum computation
