

Special Issue

Alternative Energy: Harvesting and Applications

Message from the Guest Editor

The present Special Issue is devoted to topics that reveal the state-of-the-art in the knowledge and technological development of any aspect related to alternative energy sources. Papers concerning existing as well as novel concepts are highly welcome. New developments such as perovskite photovoltaics, nuclear fusion, genetic modification of plants for bioenergy, biological conversion of raw materials into biofuels, gas hydrates, or hydrogen as fuel are highly welcome. Papers dealing with more classical topics will also be considered. Original papers as well as reviews concerning the mentioned topics and their link with economic or environmental issues are also of interest. I would like to mention that the scientific journal Energies is widely accessible thanks to its open access policy.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.
