

Special Issue

Management and Information Technology in the Energy Sector

Message from the Guest Editor

In the digital era, the concept of management and information technology has become a popular research topic. The importance of cross-sectional research is related to the increasing complexity of information technology solutions delivered to businesses, and to the transformational power of information technology. The Special Issue aims to present and discuss the main challenges posed by information technology and management in a manner relevant to both practitioners and scholars. We invite researchers to contribute original research articles and review articles that will stimulate efforts to understand the recent trends in the energy sector. Topics will include, but not be limited to, the following: • Management and information technology in the energy sector • Privacy and cybersecurity in the digital era • the role of social media and communication in the energy sector • leadership, trust, innovation and knowledge management in the digital era

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.
