

Special Issue

Sustainable Energy Systems

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue, therefore, aims to contribute to the “Sustainable Energy Systems” agenda through advanced scientific and multi-disciplinary knowledge, combined to improve energy security and performance. We therefore invite papers on innovative technical developments, reviews, case studies, analytical, as well as assessments, from different disciplines, which are relevant to “Sustainable Energy Systems”. These include smart grids, renewable energy systems, energy storage systems, life cycle analysis of energy systems, zero energy buildings, electric and hybrid vehicles, financial and economic analysis of energy systems, smart systems, energy management and big data, energy policy, novel energy sources, and renewable-based generation, among others.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.
