New Challenges in Waste Biomass

Message from the Guest Editors

We are inviting submissions to a Special Issue of Energies on the subject area of “New Challenges in Waste Biomass”. This Special Issue will deal with novel techniques and their challenges associated with the journey from waste to energy. Topics of interest for publication include but are not limited to:

- Waste-to-energy technology and policy;
- Gasification, liquefaction, or carbonization of biomass to high-value products;
- Carbon neutrality and carbon-negative technology;
- Biomass supply and circular economy;
- Sustainability and accountability for emissions.

Guest Editors

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.
