

Special Issue

Advances in Thermal Management and Reliability of Electronic Systems

Message from the Guest Editor

THERMINIC is the leading European workshop on thermal and reliability issues in electronic components and systems, and includes topics such as multiphysics simulation and modeling; thermal, thermo-mechanical, and reliability-related measurements; thermal characterization; and lifetime prediction issues. For this Special Issue, we welcome submissions of updated versions of the papers presented at THERMINIC 2025, or indeed any paper (including those not presented at THERMINIC) related to the above topics. Accepted and finalized papers will be published immediately in Energies.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, RePEc, Inspec, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

CiteScore - Q1 (Control and Optimization)
