

Special Issue

Biomass Energy Systems

Message from the Guest Editors

New innovations are needed for the invention of more efficient, affordable, sustainable, and renewable energy systems, as well as for the mitigation of climate change and global environmental issues. In response to a fast-growing interest in the realm of renewable energy, this Special Issue aims to describe a systems approach to renewable energy, including technological, political, economic, social and environmental viewpoints, as well as policies and benefits. This Special Issue aims to encompass all aspects of biomass, focusing on truly promising innovative and affordable renewable energy systems.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.
