

Special Issue

Climate Change Impacts on the Energy Sector

Message from the Guest Editors

To further spread the technologies and methods needed to understand the impact of climate change on energy sector and adaptation strategies, including production and distribution, this Special Issue entitled “Climate Change Impacts on the Energy Sector” is proposed for the international journal Energies, which is an SSCI and SCIE journal (2018 IF = 2.707). This Special Issue mainly covers original research and studies related to the abovementioned topics, including, but not limited to, the water–energy nexus, including water stress on power generation, resilience of power generation and transmission networks, changes in demand patterns, and interaction between extreme events and energy infrastructure. Papers selected for this Special Issue are subject to a rigorous peer review procedure with the aim of rapid and wide dissemination of research results, developments, and applications.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, RePEc, Inspec, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

CiteScore - Q1 (Control and Optimization)
