Special Issue

Wastewater Treatment and Resource Recovery

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue of Energies addresses state-of-the-art findings and improvements in wastewater treatment, resource recovery, anaerobic digestion, co-digestion, carbon capture, biofuels production, biogas upgrading, greenhouse gases emissions, and the microbial community. Original submissions focusing on fundamental and/or practical issues related to all subfields of wastewater treatment and resource recovery are welcome. This Special Issue will include but is not limited to:

- Wastewater treatment
- Resource recovery linked to wastewater treatment
- Sustainability
- Anaerobic digestion
- Co-digestion
- Technologies for enhance carbon capture
- Microbial community
- Sludge treatment
- Innovative reactor
- Biofuels production
- Biogases
- Modeling
- Greenhouse gases emissions
- Field-scale practices and case studies

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.

Editor-in-Chief
