

Special Issue

Thermal and Electro-thermal System Simulation

Message from the Guest Editors

As a follow-up to the 25th THERMINIC Workshop, held in Stockholm in September 2018, a Special Issue of Energies about thermal and multi-physical investigations electronics systems will be edited by Prof. Marta Rencz.

This Special Issue will target the presentation of the newest research results of thermal effects in electronics today, from characterization to through multi-physics simulation to cooling solutions and reliability assessment.

This special issue is not only collecting papers from the 25th THERMINIC Workshop, but also will contain papers from other scholars who interested in this topic. Papers that were presented at THERMINIC must be revised and contain at least 40% new material that has never been presented before.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.
