Women's Special Issue Series: Fermentation

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue, entitled "Women's Special Issue Series: Fermentation", is intended to celebrate and highlight the significant scientific achievements of women scientists that have been leaders within the field of fermentation research. Topics of interest for this Special Issue include, but are not limited to, industrial fermentation, fermentation processes and product development, strain improvement, fermentation food and beverages, microbial physiology and metabolism, and bioinformatics. In particular, we encourage the submission of articles where the lead authors are women or that are completely authored by women. Nevertheless, we welcome submissions from all authors, irrespective of gender. We warmly invite you to contribute original research papers or comprehensive review articles for peer review and possible publication in this Special Issue.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Welcome to a new open access journal, Fermentation, which meets the growing need for a high quality peerreviewed international journal with easy access to all researchers globally. We hope that you will share our enthusiasm for this new journal and look forward to working with you to make Fermentation a leader in its field. Your contributions are vital for the success of this new journal. Proposals for editing a special issue for a particular topical area are always welcome.
