Integration of Nutrition and Physiology in Aquatic Animals

Message from the Guest Editors

Our Special Issue “Integration of Nutrition and Physiology in Aquatic Animals” welcomes the submission of reviews or manuscripts describing original research aimed at improving aquatic animal performance under dietary intervention and environmentally associated nutrients. The goal of this Special Issue is to collect contributions of high scientific quality that focus on the integration of nutrition and physiology and its subsequent impacts on aquatic animal metabolism, overall growth performance, or ecological performance. Our major focus is the latest advances in the field of nutritional physiology at the molecular, cellular, tissue, and organismal levels. Investigations into interactions between nutrition and ecological adaptations are also of interest.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Fishes is a multidisciplinary open access journal focusing on reports of original research and critical reviews and synthesis from the broad area of fishes and aquatic animals. The ultimate objective of Fishes is to facilitate the discovery of connections between research areas, advancing science and filling knowledge gaps, and providing solutions for all present and future issues encountered in the sector of fisheries and aquaculture. As Editor-in-Chief, I encourage you to consider Fishes for your scientific papers and would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Editor-in-Chief
