

Special Issue

Digital Technologies for Oil Recovery and Sustainability

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue, "Digital Technologies for Oil Recovery and Sustainability", will explore the use of advanced digital tools, such as computational fluid dynamics (CFD), artificial intelligence (AI), and machine learning (ML), to enhance oil recovery while promoting sustainability. It will feature research on optimizing fluid flow, real-time reservoir management, enhanced oil recovery (EOR), and minimizing environmental impact. By showcasing the latest innovations, the issue aims to provide a platform for industry professionals and researchers to share knowledge, driving the development of more efficient and environmentally responsible oil recovery practices.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Fluids (ISSN 2311-5521) is an international journal on all aspects of fluids in open access format: research articles, reviews and other contents are released on the internet immediately after acceptance. You are invited to contribute a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Fluids. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited free access to the content as soon as it is published. Please consider Fluids as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and active participation.

Editor-in-Chief

Prof. Dr. D. Andrew S. Rees

Department of Mechanical Engineering, University of Bath, Bath BA2 7AY, UK

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, ESCI (Web of Science), Inspec, CAPIus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

CiteScore - Q2 (Mechanical Engineering)
