Studies on Antioxidant-Containing Foods and Related By-Products

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to present a comprehensive view of current "functional studies of berries and related by-products". We invite original research papers that will contribute to one or more of the following topics:

- Chemical and biochemical characterization of any types of berries and related by-products;
- Development of functional foods/beverages containing berries and related by-products;
- Sensory studies and consumer acceptability of berrybased functional foods/beverages;
- Biological activity of selected bioactive compounds found in berries and related by-products;
- Cell/animal/human nutritional studies dedicated to health benefits of berries and related by-products;
- Omics studies covering any of the above topics.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Foods (ISSN 2304-8158) is an open access and peer reviewed scientific journal that publishes original articles, critical reviews, case reports, and short communications on food science. Articles are released monthly online, with unlimited free access. Currently, Foods has been indexed by the Science Citation Index Expanded (SCIE - Web of Science), PubMed, and Scopus. Our aim is to encourage scientists, researchers, and other food professionals to publish their experimental and theoretical results as much detail as possible. We therefore invite you to be one of our authors, and in doing so share your important research findings with the global food science community.
