Plant Food-Derived Bioactive Components: Advances in Health Benefits and Extraction Method

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to provide a comprehensive overview of the latest advances in conventional and green extraction technologies and to examine the beneficial activities of plant-based foods and their components, studied through in vitro and in vivo models. Additionally, researchers are encouraged to submit papers reporting protocols for the separation, purification, and structural identification of active ingredients. Chromatographic and spectroscopic techniques are recommended for the identification and quantification of bioactive components.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Foods (ISSN 2304-8158) is an open access and peer reviewed scientific journal that publishes original articles, critical reviews, case reports, and short communications on food science. Articles are released monthly online, with unlimited free access. Currently, Foods has been indexed by the Science Citation Index Expanded (SCIE - Web of Science), PubMed, and Scopus. Our aim is to encourage scientists, researchers, and other food professionals to publish their experimental and theoretical results as much detail as possible. We therefore invite you to be one of our authors, and in doing so share your important research findings with the global food science community.
