

Special Issue

Microbial Forensics: Opportunities and Limitations

Message from the Guest Editor

We are delighted to announce a Special Issue of the Forensic Sciences journal, 'Microbial Forensics: Opportunities and Limitations'. Microbial forensics, an emerging interdisciplinary field, has the potential to revolutionize forensic investigations, providing insights into a wide range of forensic cases, from tracking the source of bioterrorism agents to estimating post-mortem intervals. Despite its potential for supporting evidence in criminal investigations, this field remains underutilized. Therefore, this Special Issue invites scholars to submit their original research articles, reviews, and case studies that explore the recent developments in the field of microbial forensics, highlighting novel methodologies, real-life cases, as well as potential applications and challenges. Interdisciplinary collaborations from researchers in microbiology, genetics, chemistry, forensic science, and related fields are welcome. We look forward to receiving your contributions.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within ESCI (Web of Science), Scopus, EBSCO, and other databases.

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 27 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 5.8 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
