Message from the Guest Editors

We encourage research endeavors involving the development of models, methods, processes, and decision support tools to address Inventory, Planning, Modeling, Mapping, Governance, Certification, and Marketing of ecosystem services to contribute to this Special Issue. Such an initiative will also contribute to the ecosystem services knowledge-base and to the strengthening of research strategies to support a full encapsulation of multiple ecosystem services in the framework of multiple uses of ecosystem services. Papers submitted for publication in this Special Issue will undergo a rigorous peer-review process with the aim of prompt and wide dissemination of research results and applications.
