

Special Issue

Impacts of Air Pollution on Human and Ecosystems Health

Message from the Guest Editors

The goal of this Special Issue is to provide an extensive overview of the effects that air pollution have on human and ecosystems health, promoting approaches from ecology and social science that are able to define the indicators of the impact, quantifying their impacts either in monetary terms or for impairing the structure and function of ecosystems. This Special Issue can contribute to upgrading the state-of-the-art, to prioritize the intervention in air quality policy as a means of making cities resilient and sustainable, as established under the eleventh Sustainable Development Goals (SDG 11), inasmuch the preservation of GI functionality as a mean to counteract climate change and its impact (SDG 13).

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Forests (ISSN 1999-4907) is an international and cross-disciplinary, scholarly forestry journal. The distinguished editorial board and refereeing process ensures the highest degree of scientific rigor and review of all published articles. Original research articles and timely reviews are released online, with unlimited free access. Our goal is to have Forests be recognized as one of the foremost publication outlets for high quality, leading edge research in this broad and diverse field. We therefore invite you to be one of our authors, and in doing so share your important research findings with the global forestry community.
