EcoResource: Sustainable Materials and Waste Management in Wood and Non-wood Resources

Message from the Guest Editors

EcoResource is a Special Issue journal dedicated to advancing knowledge and sustainable practices in wood and non-wood resources management. Our journal provides a platform for researchers, academics, and industry professionals to disseminate and explore innovative research, technologies, and strategies in the following areas: Wood science and engineering: Research covering the science, technology, and engineering of wood, wood components, wood structures, and wood-based composites. This includes studies of wood properties, processing techniques, and structural applications. Fiber resources from non-woody plants: Exploration of natural fiber resources obtained from non-woody plants, such as agricultural residues, suitable for various applications, including composites and textiles. Wood-inhabiting insects and fungi: Studies on wood-damaging insects and fungi, their effects on wood-based materials, and strategies for preservation and mitigation. Wood biomass: Research focused on the sustainable utilization of wood biomass for energy production, biofuels, and other value-added applications.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Forests (ISSN 1999-4907) is an international and cross-disciplinary, scholarly forestry journal. The distinguished editorial board and refereeing process ensures the highest degree of scientific rigor and review of all published articles. Original research articles and timely reviews are released online, with unlimited free access. Our goal is to have Forests be recognized as one of the foremost publication outlets for high quality, leading edge research in this broad and diverse field. We therefore invite you to be one of our authors, and in doing so share your important research findings with the global forestry community.
