

Special Issue

C and N Functioning in Forest Ecosystems

Message from the Guest Editor

In this Special Issue of Forests, we propose to aggregate innovative new research on the characterization of C and N functioning in temperate, boreal, and tropical forest ecosystems. It will notably concern research on C and N cycling in forests, trees, and all the plant and soil processes involved in these cycles: internal C and N allocation, assimilation, storage, fruiting, interaction between tree and soil, tree–soil C and N transfer, forest soil organic matter dynamics, and more globally, forest ecosystems fluxes.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Forests (ISSN 1999-4907) is an international and cross-disciplinary, scholarly forestry journal. The distinguished editorial board and refereeing process ensures the highest degree of scientific rigor and review of all published articles. Original research articles and timely reviews are released online, with unlimited free access. Our goal is to have Forests be recognized as one of the foremost publication outlets for high quality, leading edge research in this broad and diverse field. We therefore invite you to be one of our authors, and in doing so share your important research findings with the global forestry community.

Editor-in-Chief
