

Special Issue

Application of Remote Sensing and Geographic Information Systems for Natural Resource Management of Forest Ecosystems—2nd Edition

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue of Forests focuses on the integration of remote sensing with GIS applied to forest management and monitoring. Research articles can focus on any aspect in which GIS is applied to assess forest ecosystems using satellite imagery, drone imagery, LiDAR technology and the analysis of direct measurement data such as meteorological and historical records. We also welcome studies in which remote sensing and GIS support research in forest ecology and the development of data-driven management strategies for ecological modeling and the performance of studies on forest ecosystem dynamics.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Forests (ISSN 1999-4907) is an international and cross-disciplinary, scholarly forestry journal. The distinguished editorial board and refereeing process ensures the highest degree of scientific rigor and review of all published articles. Original research articles and timely reviews are released online, with unlimited free access. Our goal is to have Forests be recognized as one of the foremost publication outlets for high quality, leading edge research in this broad and diverse field. We therefore invite you to be one of our authors, and in doing so share your important research findings with the global forestry community.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, GEOBASE, PubAg, AGRIS, PaperChem, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Forestry) / CiteScore - Q1 (Forestry)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.8 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.5 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2025).
