

Special Issue

Behavioral Changes and Demand Forecasting in Digitalized Urban Mobility and Logistics

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue of Future Transportation will focus on studies that analyze how digitization affects urban mobility and logistics, the development of advanced AI- and data-based demand forecasting models, and strategies that promote inclusion and equity in future urban transportation and distribution systems. We invite contributions that address the challenges of smart, sustainable, and accessible mobility and logistics in cities and support the design of public policies and technological solutions for the planning and operation of passenger and freight distribution systems.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or a comprehensive review article for publication in Future Transportation, an international, open access, and peer-reviewed journal that provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to the technologies, sustainability, and emerging trends in transportation. Future Transportation publishes original research articles, review articles, and communications. I am confident that you will find the journal to be a premier outlet for research fueling the revolution involving electrification, autonomous driving, micro-mobility, and other novel as well shared transportation modes, in addition to the digital infrastructure supporting these aspects.
