Special Issue

Communication, Cartels and Collusion

Message from the Guest Editors

We invite submissions for a Special Issue that will be devoted to exploring the interplay between communication and cooperation/collusion. Apart from being of theoretical interest, this interplay is important as it affects antitrust policy—what kinds of inter-firm communication should be legal and what kinds not—as well as the design of organizations (i.e., how communication channels in a firm should be arranged). We invite submissions that study this interplay in a variety of settings, both theoretical and applied.
