Father Involvement and Family Heritage: A Genealogical Perspective on Parenting and Ethnic Diversity

Message from the Guest Editor

With the rise of discussions on advocating a caring masculinity among fathers, we embrace the cross-cultural interpretation of fatherhood and their involvement in the family. The purpose of this Special Issue is to understand the phenomenology and meaning of how the role of fathers in parenting is evolving alongside the rise of the era of AI and how fatherhood and paternal care address ethnic diversity and inform evidence-based interventions and research for these populations. We request that, prior to submitting a manuscript, interested authors initially submit a proposed title and an abstract of 200 words summarizing their intended contribution. Please send it to the Guest Editor (kai-chung.lo@polyu.edu.hk) or to Genealogy Editorial Office (genealogy@mdpi.com). Abstracts will be reviewed by the for the purposes of ensuring proper fit within the scope of this Special Issue. Full manuscripts will undergo double-blind peer review.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Genealogy is a scholarly journal that provides a venue for academic, cutting-edge contributions to the interdisciplinary field of genealogy studies. We welcome contributions that examine genealogies of family lineage, use genealogical considerations and methods in examining other historical processes (including migration histories, personal, social, and national identities, and social institutions) or study the construction of genealogical narratives. The journal is also interested in biographical studies and their contribution to the understanding of broader social and historical phenomena.
