

Special Issue

Maternal Diseases and Treatment for Mothers and Children

Message from the Guest Editors

We are currently organizing a Special Issue entitled "Maternal Diseases and Treatment for Mothers and Children" in Healthcare. Maternal and infant health is a very important, interesting and complicated part of medicine, which takes responsibility for a pregnant woman and her newborn. Researchers and practitioners in these fields are searching for new solutions in the management of diseases affecting the mother and her child, including diagnosis, prevention and treatment. Developing strategies for reducing the risk factors of adverse pregnancy outcomes and acute and long-term complications, as well as understanding the cost of possible future management are pivotal. This Special Issue is open to submissions concerning perinatal medicine, with a focus on recent and novel topics. The keywords listed below provide an outline of some of the possible areas of interest. Keywords: obstetrics; diagnostics; management; pregnancy; prenatal testing; GDM; USG; blood tests; FGR; hypertension in pregnancy
