Adherence in Health and Rehabilitation Interventions: Advances, Innovations, and Outcomes

Message from the Guest Editor

In this Special Issue of Healthcare, titled “Adherence in Health and Rehabilitation Interventions: Advances, Innovations, and Outcomes”, we seek to advance our shared scientific understanding of adherence in health and rehabilitation interventions through a collection of articles examining new advances, novel approaches, and best practices for promoting adherence. Scoping and systematic review articles, pilot studies, efficacy studies, secondary data analyses, and feasibility studies of novel approaches, particularly approaches that use technologies to augment treatments in the home and community setting, are of particular interest.
