

Special Issue

Anesthesia, Pain Management, and Intensive Care in Oncologic Surgery

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue aims to gather comprehensive research on perioperative management for oncological patients, foster further discussion, and improve outcomes and quality of life.

Research may include the following areas in oncologic surgery:

Perioperative management of specific surgical approaches and radiotherapy treatments;
Enhanced recovery after oncologic surgery;
Anesthesia and cancer recurrence;
Postoperative pain;
Outcomes.

We encourage submissions that provide preclinical and clinical research, literature reviews, and clinical case studies that contribute to evolving practices.

I look forward to receiving your contributions.
