Palliative Care for Older People

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special issue is focus on the palliative care for older people. Palliative care is an active treatment, nursing and care for patients with incurable diseases and short life expectancies. Care for older people includes the relief of physical pain and other troublesome symptoms. In addition, older people need help verbalizing mental, social and existential problems. We welcome original research or review related to older people, end of life, palliative care and death or dying.
