Clinical Updates in Prostate Cancer and Bladder Cancer

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue, “Clinical Updates in Prostate Cancer and Bladder Cancer”, seeks to highlight recent developments in patient-centered care, healthcare procedures, the identification of biomarkers, therapeutic targets, resistance mechanisms, and clinical management strategies. Topics of particular interest focusing on, but not limited to the following areas, are welcome:

- Optimizing diagnostic and prognostic approaches
- Liquid biopsies and biomarkers
- Personalized treatment strategies
- Addressing therapeutic resistance and treatment sequencing
- Innovations in minimally invasive and surgical techniques
- Integrating supportive and palliative care
- Healthcare delivery and patient outcomes

By emphasizing insights on patient care, clinical management, and healthcare procedures, this Special Issue seeks to provide a valuable resource for clinicians, healthcare providers, and researchers dedicated to improving the diagnosis, treatment, and overall management of prostate and bladder cancers. We welcome original research, reviews, and case studies that contribute to these goals and support advancements in urological oncology.
