Special Issue

New Advances in Palliative Care

Message from the Guest Editors

The goal of the Special Issue, "New Advances in Palliative Care", is to highlight recent advances and challenges in palliative care that are connected to the inclusion of different patient groups in palliative care, palliative care in pandemic times, tele-palliative care and the use of modern technology in the field of palliative care. This Special Issue will be of interest for researchers and clinicians from various fields and for policymakers, officials and politicians who are responsible for public health decisions and policies for the future. Thus, manuscripts on advances in palliative care from a broad range of disciplines and on a wide range of topics are welcome.
