New Advances in Health Technology for Women

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue of Healthcare seeks original research, short reports, reviews, and opinion papers on the use of advance technologies in the following areas of women's health: pregnancy, reproductive health, sexual health, menopausal health, and cancer. Papers discussing the advantages of using these new technologies, the challenges encountered, and more importantly, the effects on clinical outcomes are welcome. The aim of this Special Issue is to focus on new and emerging technologies on women's health. I envisage this Special Issue to be of interest to clinicians, researchers, and industry and to have impact on women's health, healthcare, and health policy.
