Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

We live in societies oriented towards the now and the tomorrow, yet the present seems stubbornly rooted in the past, as Zygmunt Bauman so convincingly argues in his last work Retrotopia (2017). This retrospective orientation is observable in all major contemporary media forms and social practices. Romantic inclination towards the past might seem irrational, but our emotional connections to our own biographies, as well as a collective solidarity with our childhoods, traditions, imaginations, anticipations and dreams may also be a rational response to modern instability. Nostalgia, then, appears increasingly to be a modality of its own with major potential for understanding how our now is shaped by our then, both individually and collectively.

Papers are invited that will discuss pressing contemporary issues, such as Nostalgia and Empire, Migration and Exile, Nationalism, Terrorism, The Anthropocene, Ecology, The Post-human, Utopian-Dystopian Imaginaries, through a nostalgic discourse and how these issues resonate in media, art and culture.