

Special Issue

Black Feminist Ecologies

Message from the Guest Editor

Please consider submitting an article to this Special Issue of Humanities on Black feminist ecologies. We welcome topics related to Black women's nature writing, engagement with nature and environmental discourse, discourse on abolition, marronage, the Plantationocene, the Anthropocene, and Black, trans, and queer ecologies. We invite submissions of interdisciplinary essays that can take a range of forms, from literary analyses to sociological and historical perspectives on Black women's relationships with, and representations of, the natural world.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

We welcome contributions that address fundamental issues in the Humanities from any meaningful perspective, combining past and present concerns in order to blaze a path toward the future. Interdisciplinary approaches are particularly welcome. All submissions will be critically reviewed by peers, aiming for the highest possible scholarly level. Being an online journal, the published papers will reach their desired audiences faster, more reliably, and much more easily than traditional print versions, while upholding the same, if not even higher, scholarly standards.
