Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue considers senior-centered design for interaction to facilitate a positive and engaging user experience to improve the overall quality of life by promoting older adults' wellbeing and satisfaction. This interdisciplinary Special Issue aims to bring together a selection of high-quality papers (e.g., case studies, insightful reviews, theoretical and critical perspectives, and viewpoint articles) that contribute to technology design for older adults by addressing topics including, but not limited to:

Human-computer interaction; User-centered design;
Ethnographic study;

Empirical study; User engagement; Gerontechnology;

Encouraging creativity and self esteem with technology;

How technology affects social engagement; Educating aging adults on new technologies;

Technologies that assist aging adults with managing their healthcare;

Home health and wellness; Smart home systems;

Keywords:

Human-Computer Interaction (HCI); Human-centered
design (HCD); Aging and technology; Wellbeing; User engagement; Long-term Engagement; Positive Aging; Aging
in Place (AIP)

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Discovery and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a scientific basis for decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards. IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality, peer-reviewed, open access journal.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Embase, GEOBASE, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: CiteScore - Q1 (Public Health, Environmental and Occupational Health)
