Message from the Guest Editor

Health promotion allows people to have greater control of their own health. It covers a wide range of social and environmental interventions aimed at benefit and protect individual health and quality of life through the prevention and solution of the root causes of public health problems. In this line, the effective adaptation of the current models of health intervention is required, in order to adapt attention to health needs and optimize available psycho-socio-sanitary resources.

Because of the important impact of this research, we are delighted to invited you to submit papers to be presented at the VI International Congress in Clinical and Health Contexts (http://www.ciccs.es/), for publication in IJERPH (Impact Factor 2.468). This Special Issue will be guest edited by Dr. María del Carmen Pérez Fuentes. Manuscripts should be submitted by 15 March 2020. See the Special Issue website for further details and submission instructions.
Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Discovery and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a scientific basis for decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards. IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality, peer-reviewed, open access journal.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High visibility: indexed by the Science Citation Index Expanded (Web of Science), Social Sciences Citation Index (Web of Science), MEDLINE (PubMed), Scopus (Elsevier) and other databases. Full-text available in PubMed Central.

Rapid publication: manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision provided to authors approximately 19.8 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.6 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2019).
