Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

We are organizing a Special Issue entitled “Economic Crisis and Health” in the International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health.

This monographic Issue will serve as a meeting point between public health and health economics and will address others issues such as the following:

- International perspectives of the effects of economic recessions on health and healthcare;
- Specific studies for countries particularly affected by the last economic crisis;
- Methods for measuring the effects of economic crisis on healthcare, health, and equity, and for evaluating the impact of policies addressed to face the crisis;
- Does really austerity kill?
- Economic crisis, environmental problems, and global health;
- Equity concerns related to the economic crisis;
- Public policies, and social protection;
- Effects of the economic crisis on specific population groups

We welcome the submission of reviews, original research articles, short communications, case studies, and other kinds of articles targeting any of these core research questions and beyond.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Scientific discoveries and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a rational basis for informed decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards.

IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality peer-reviewed journal.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Embase, GEOBASE, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: CiteScore - Q1 (Public Health, Environmental and Occupational Health)
