Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Well-being is one of the most important research topics in social sciences. Thus, this Special Issue will focus on two critical well-being issues in the tourism/hospitality industry: (1) employee workplace well-being and (2) customers' well-being perception (quality of life). First, employee workplace well-being covers human resource management in the hospitality industry (airline, hotel, restaurant etc.). Second, customer well-being perception covers consumer behavior in the tourism/hospitality industry. Besides covering the main two well-being perceptions, other areas will also be covered in the Special Issue, including tourism/hospitality and stress management, tourism/hospitality and quality of life, mental health in the tourism/hospitality industry, tourism/hospitality and happiness, and job stress in the tourism/hospitality industry.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Discovery and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a scientific basis for decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards. IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality, peer-reviewed, open access journal.
